

ANDELUNA

MENDOZA • ARGENTINA

The Andeluna name and label recall the romance and mystery of the Argentine moon illuminating Uco Valley at the foot of the majestic Andes Mountains. The estate combines fruit grown in world-class vineyards with the best of Argentina's winemaking traditions. At an elevation of 4200 feet near the town of Tupungato in Mendoza, Andeluna is surrounded by 170 acres of exceptional, high-altitude, mature vineyards planted to Bordeaux varietals.

"1300" TORRONTÉS

Indigenous to Argentina but genetically linked to eastern Mediterranean Malvasia, Torrontés yields clean, crisp wines with bright, refreshing character and fine definition. Many compare this favorably to Italian Pinot Grigio.

An deluna's Torrontéz was one of Decanter's 2010 "Top 10 Argentine Wines"

"Medium straw-yellow. Peach, spices and floral honey on the nose. Quite dry and subtle, with a sneaky intensity to the flavors of tropical fruits and apple. A firm yet delicate torrонтés with nice persistence." (Tanzer on the 2008)

"1300" MALBEC

10% draw-off, cold pre-fermentation maceration ~ fermentation at 79°F with 3 daily pump-overs/day ~ 8 months in French and American oak. An deluna uses 1-2 daily delestages to develop mature, dramatic aromatic/palate profiles.

Decanter's "Best Single Varietal Wine under £10 in the World" plus a Decanter GOLD MEDAL

2014 An deluna "1300" Malbec: International Wine Challenge SILVER MEDAL

"1300" CABERNET SAUVIGNON

Tanzer on 2010: "Currant, pepper and coffee on the nose, complicated by licorice and menthol notes. Juicy, brisk and intense, with a savory quality leavening the wine's sweetness. Finishes with serious toothcoating tannins. A bit youthfully clenched, but offers good lift and structure for the price." Decanter Magazine BRONZE MEDAL in 2011 and 2013 vintages

"Altitud" MALBEC

From An deluna's vineyard in Tupungato, Mendoza – Malbec grown at a staggering 4300 feet above sea level! The region is characterized by severe temperature fluctuations that produce grapes with thrillingly intense colors and flavors.

Stephen Tanzer on the 2010: 90 points "Aromas of blackberry, bitter chocolate, licorice and sexy oak. Lush, broad and dry, with very good energy framing the blackberry and cassis fruit flavors. The rather powerful tannins coat the tongue and teeth on the long, broad finish." Tim Adkin, MW, on the 2014: 91 points

"Pasionado" GRAND RESERVE

Intense red with violet and ruby highlights; Ripe red fruit scents with a spicy component and subtle hints of anise, vanilla and chocolate; full-bodied with impressive structure, ripe and rich red and black fruit flavors, and well-rounded tannins; a fantastic accompaniment to grilled or roasted meats, spicy vegetables, hearty sauces, rich stews and ripe cheeses.

Produced under the able guidance of renowned consulting enologist Michel Rolland, Pasionado is a Bordeaux-styled blend of Merlot (36%), Malbec (34%), Cabernet Sauvignon (20%) and Cabernet Franc harvested at 2 ton/acre yields from sandy, permeable, alluvial soils. Initially, the varietals were aged separately for 12 months in new French oak; after blending, Pasionado saw an additional 6 months aging (also in new French oak) to integrate the different varietal components.
